The University of Baltimore is a non-sectarian, non-profit state institution of higher education, open to qualified men and women without regard to race, religion, or national origin. The University consists of (1) the College of Liberal Arts, which awards the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science degrees, (2) the School of Business, which awards the Bachelor of Science and the Master of Business Administration degrees, and (3) the School of Law, which awards the Juris Doctor degree. The University's classroom, library, social, and administrative buildings are located in mid-town Baltimore. Athletic facilities are located in the Mount Washington section of Baltimore. The University has no dormitories, but out-of-town students are assisted by the Dean of Students in finding suitable living quarters.

The School of Law was first opened with the founding of the University of Baltimore in 1925. The Mount Vernon School of Law of Eastern College was established in 1935. Effective September 1, 1970, the Mount Vernon School of Law was merged with the University of Baltimore School of Law.

The School has both a day and evening division. The day division offers a full-time, three-year program, leading to the Juris Doctor degree upon satisfactory completion of 84 semester hours of work. The evening division has a four-year Juris Doctor degree program requiring satisfactory completion of 84 semester hours. The normal evening program is 10 hours of class time each week, meeting on three nights.

The University is regionally accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The School of Law is on the list of law schools provisionally approved by the American Bar Association.
